Change washes over us.
It crept up on our lives as sure and familiar as the tequila sunrise over ol' South Mountain.
Time splashed Autumn-red ivy on the face of Linderman Library, Stripped the green to gothic-grey of spires on winter sky
then burst into dizzying emerald brilliance and fat pink magnolia blooms.

Changes in student life and campus structures rushed over us. Linderman's zoo sported a makeover to rival the U.C.'s plushy Grace Lounge decor, Delta Gamma appeared as the first sorority this side of Saucon Valley, Freshman men chuckled at the proposed renovations of Taylor Hall, and we all still waited for Mart's new addition to materialize.

Fall football flourished with its customary vigor, and as '82's stifling social regulations faded to a code of fraternal honor
'tails and tailgates returned, and taps flowed past midnight.
'83 will long be remembered by the female sector as the year of the new improved U.C. salad bar to help fight the freshman ten, and of the kidnappings by the notorious Alpha Phi gang. The finals blackout panicked upper campus as students flocked to Mart for light, or gathered Abe Lincoln-style, to work equations around a candle's glow.

Fierce but short-winded, the formidable Blizzard of '83 melted into what seemed the latest spring-break ever, prompting all to lustily go a-Maying. Many transformed complexions of Lehigh-white to Lauderdale and Bahama bronze in anticipation of baring tan lines on the U.C. beach.

The hoopla of President Likens' inaugural celebration attracted sell-out numbers to the inaugural ball, and the return of Sigma Chi Derby days vied with the female fight-back of Delta Gamma's Anchor Splash. Again, we wondered . . . Would there be a Greek Week? Finals brought on graduation for some, Summer break for others, and for seniors, four years gone by in a rush of change: struggles and smiles, faces and fortunes to come.

A Reluctant farewell to the Class of '83:

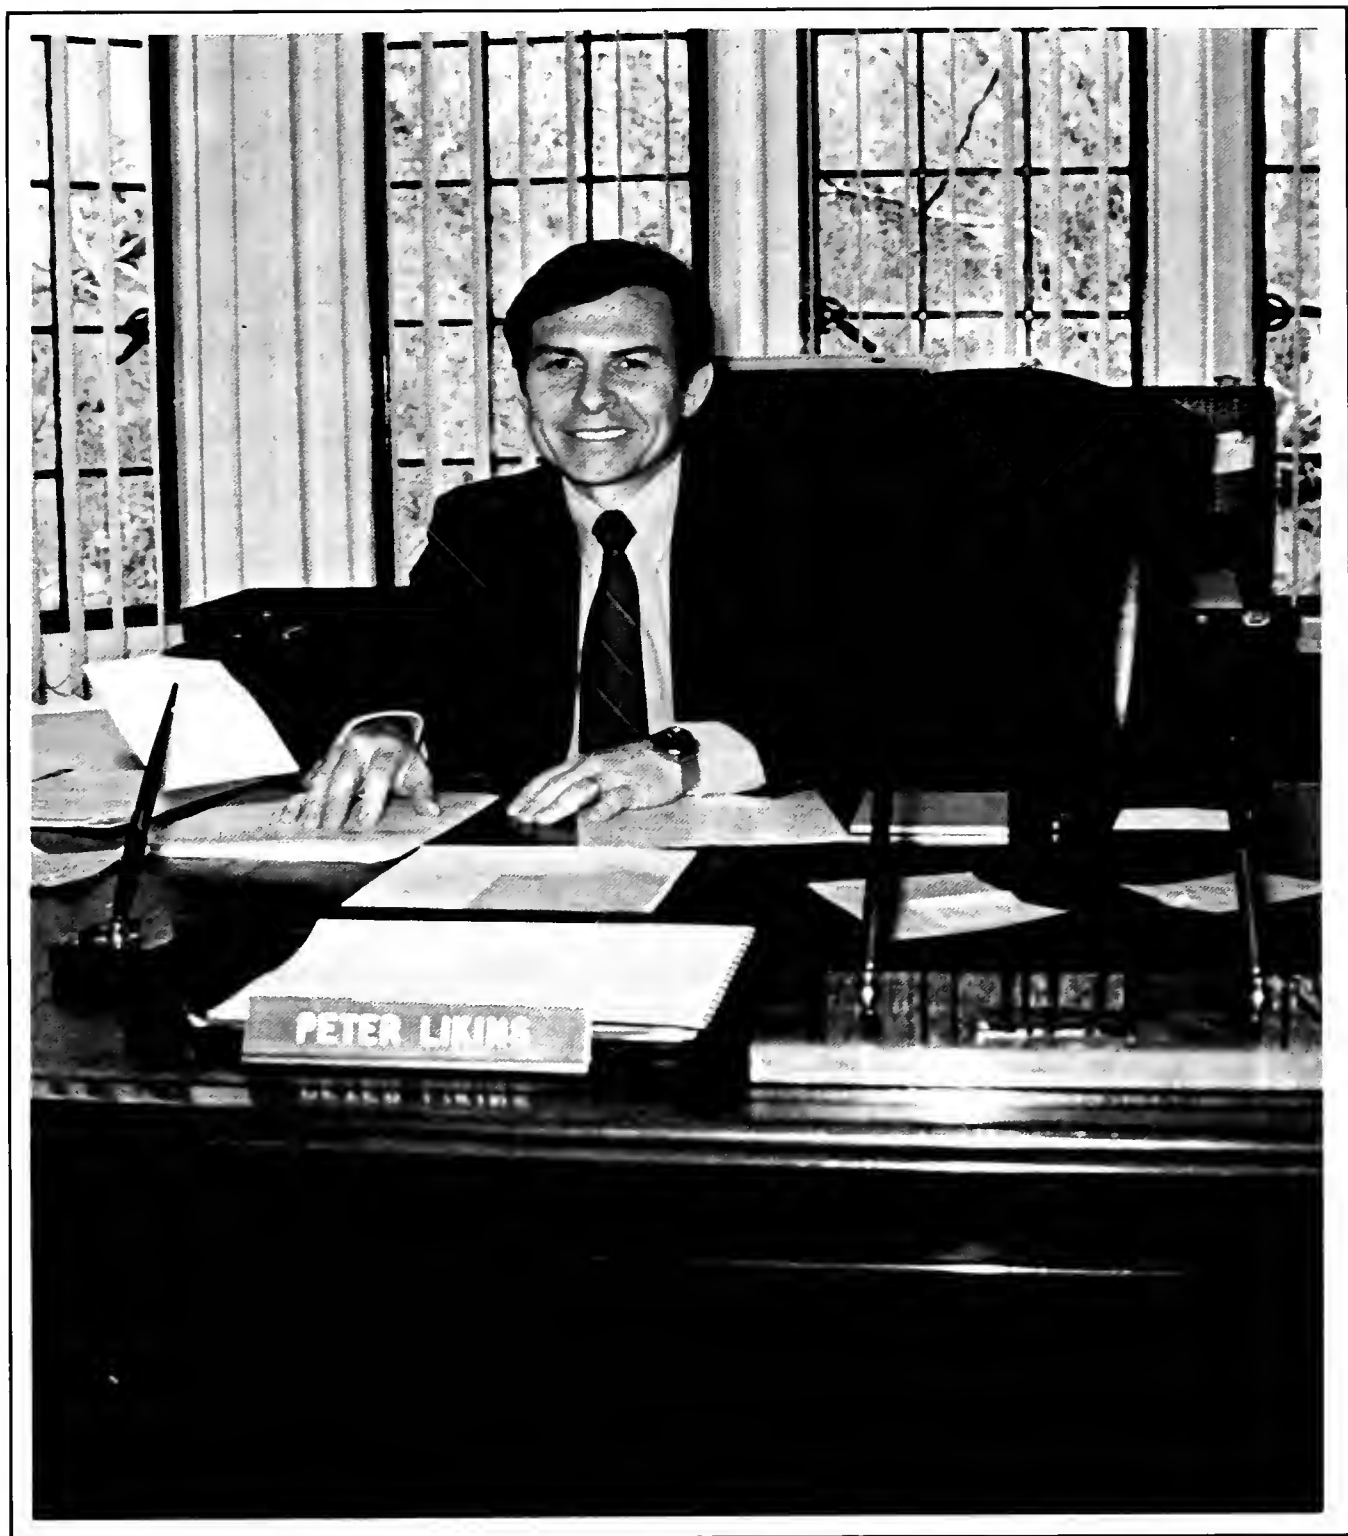

I just arrived, and you're gone already. This year, my first and your last, slipped by so fast that I can't believe it's over. Only yesterday I greeted most of you at our reception for the senior class, and many names and faces have become familiar since that beginning. I've cheered for you on Lehigh teams, debated with you in the Forum, enjoyed your refreshing presence in my home, and danced with you at the marathon and the inaugural ball. I'm just beginning to really know you, and now you're gone.

You must come back to Lehigh, soon and often. I'll be here, trying to make your university an even better place to live and learn. I didn't see enough of you as students, and I hope to see you often as alums.

Best wishes,

Peter Likins

They have always lived in the shadow of the Engineers. Countless times throughout their college careers they find themselves defending their major choices, and explaining what they were "really" going to do with their lives after Lehigh. They are the students of the College of Arts and Science.

Since 1981, the College has gained considerable recognition. It was the beginning of the "blossoming of the arts" at Lehigh. The College of Arts and Science at Lehigh offers a student the intimacy and personal attention of a small liberal arts college, while offering the varied course selection and experiences of a university education.

Today, the College of Arts and Science offers many diverse majors in fields such as the Humanities, Social Sciences, Mathematics and Natural Sciences, as well as Bachelor of Science degrees with majors including Biology and CIS.

Opportunities to expand one's knowledge abound in the College of Arts and Science, and are not restricted to the University campus. Students spend semesters on programs in Spain, France, and Italy. Others participate in exchange programs with the University of Kent, Manchester Institute of Science and Technology, and the University of York in England. Programs offered in the United States include studying at the Institute of Architecture and Urban Studies in New York, the Urban Semester in Harrisburg and the Washington Semester in the U.S. Capitol. Still others participate in volunteer and internship programs offered in the Lehigh Valley.

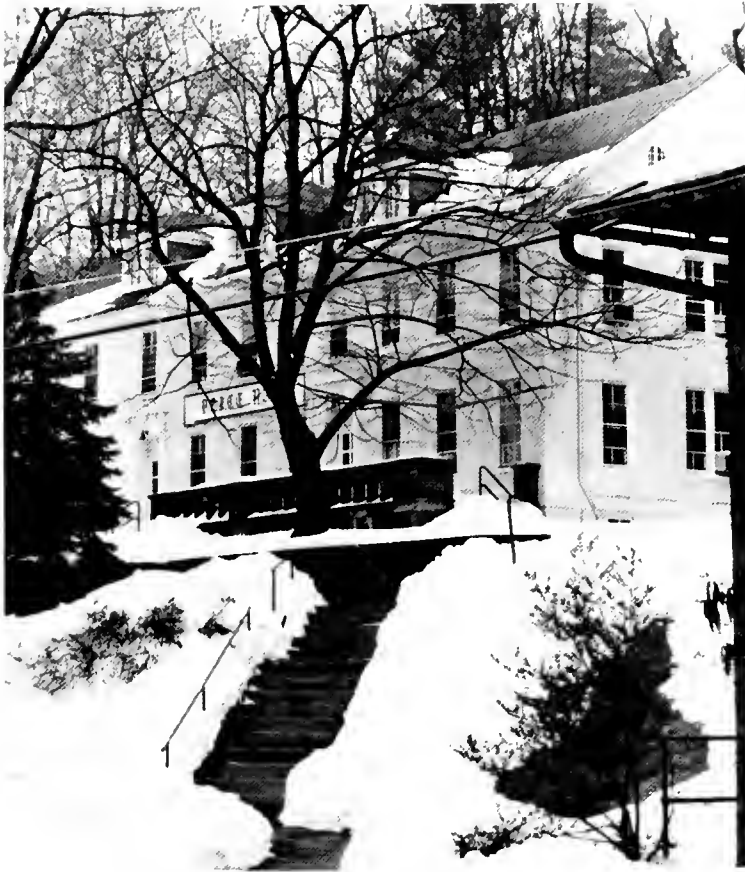

Special courses of study such as the Science, Technology and Society program made available through a grant from the National Science Foundation, and the College Scholar program which offers a student structured curriculum which allows him to experience a special assortment of courses, are also available to specially selected students.

Study in the College of Arts and Science allows a student to enjoy a traditional education at a traditional university. At Lehigh, a student is surrounded by the ever increasing sophistication of technology. And because of this, Lehigh's arts students are prepared to face the complexities of today's technological society.

It is a competitive environment where there is great pressure. It is also an enjoyable environment where there is great satisfaction. It is also an environment in which there is pride in being part of those who are known as the Lehigh Engineers.

NEWS ON CAMPUS

Students returned to Lehigh in the fall to find Linderman Library in a state of disarray. Phase one of the $160,000 remodeling plan to provide an environment more conducive to studying had been completed.

The Interfraternity Council hoped to make other changes, namely in the social regulations of the previous year, which are still in effect. The IFC sponsored Oktoberfest, a University-wide event held in the Centennial II parking lot in an effort to make the best of a closed party weekend. Oktoberfest was a start, but many who attended agreed that more options were needed.

More changes in physical plant were scheduled when Taylor Hall was slated for renovation to begin in May 1983. The project will take approximately 15 months to complete, and several other dorms will absorb the loss of housing.

Sigma Phi fraternity was dissolved in early October due to "poor academic performance, lack of retention of recruited pledges, a large 1981-82 deficit, lack of funds in the current membership to operate a kitchen and pay house utilities and possible irregularities in the pledging program," according to the Dean of Students.

A group of 42 men, consisting of gryphons and residents currently living in Taylor Hall, were given a set of bids by Sigma Phi alumni and will move into the chapter house in the fall of 1983.

An "Alcohol Effects Demonstration" sponsored by the University's Alcohol Education Committee was held in the University Center in mid November. Members of the faculty drank alcohol and periodically took breathalyzer tests administered by the Bethlehem Police Department. The faculty seemed to agree that even one or two drinks can affect a person much more than they realize.

Throughout November fraternities and, for the first time sororities, were busy with rush. Sorority rush was informal but partially structured by the Panhellenic Council. The sororities were pleased with informal rush, and it will be held again next year.

In December, Kappa Sigma Fraternity was found guilty of sexual harassment and the infliction of emotional distress by the University Committee on Discipline due to an incident at the chapter house in September. Kappa Sigma was placed on social and disciplinary probation for 1983. The fraternity was able to hold a successful rush, but will not be allowed to host any social functions until 1984.

At the close of the semester, while students were studying for finals, a 12,000 volt power line shorted out and burned off, creating a two day power outage. Students flocked to lower campus, where power remained on, and took seats on the floor of Mart Library.

Students returned in January to a snow covered campus. The snow continued to fall and removal efforts finally resulted in huge mounds of snow in front of Maginnes Hall.

The structure of the Forum changed drastically when its membership was cut in half. Elections were held, and the new reduced Forum has already begun legislative efforts.

The sororities' bid to move to campus was passed by the Forum, and the move will probably occur in the fall of 1984.

SEASON REVIEW

by Frank Rudisill

Unlike seasons past, the 1982 football season was not one of glittering statistics and impressive records. This was a year of hard luck, injuries, and last second defeats that did not, however, come without its rewards. The season's rewards cannot be found on any stat sheet and are only evident when one takes into account the fierce pride, determination, and unwillingness to quit that characterized the '82 Engineers.

The season began, appropriately, on a down note as the squad battled 90 percent humidity, their own offensive inconsistency, and the Black Bears of Maine, en route to a 14-6 loss. Sophomore quarterback Tony Semler was seven of ten for 127 yards in the first half and appeared capable of leading the Engineers to victory until he suffered an injury to his throwing arm in the third quarter. Ironically, this initial contest was symbolic of the team's performance for the remainder of the season as the squad moved the ball at will against the Bears throughout the contest, but with the exception of junior Jeff Hunt's six yard TD catch, were not able to score.

The following week the Engineers returned to the friendly confines of Taylor Stadium and lost a heartbreaker to Colgate, 21-14.

A partisan crowd of 22,000 filed into spacious Franklin Field in Philadelphia the following week to watch the Engineers battle the Quakers of Penn. The game started off well with the team taking an early 3-0 lead against the undefeated Quakers. The Penn squad, however, being highly motivated after losing to the Engineers 58-0 the previous year, raced to a 20-3 lead late in the game. Lehigh refused to quit and closed the gap to 20-17 with only seconds left to play. An unsuccessful onside kick attempt kept the Engineers from getting another scoring opportunity and the final score remained 20-17. The Engineer injury count was as devastating as the loss. Backs Terry Heffner, Jim Gum, and Jimmy Ancel were lost for the remainder of the season.

Lehigh, now 0-3, returned home to face the nationally ranked Blue Hens of Delaware and old nemesis Tubby

Raymond in front of a rabid crowd in Taylor Stadium. Freshman quarterback Marty Horn led the Engineers to what seemed to be their first victory by completing 15 of 22 passes for 208 yards and two touchdowns. The squad came through with a gutsy effort and led 19-17 with nine seconds left. The Blue Hens lined up to attempt a 26 yard field goal and saw it go awry as the snap from center came back high. The jubilant Lehigh squad began celebrating what they thought was a victory only to see the Hens line up with one second left and make good on a second attempt for the win, 20-19.

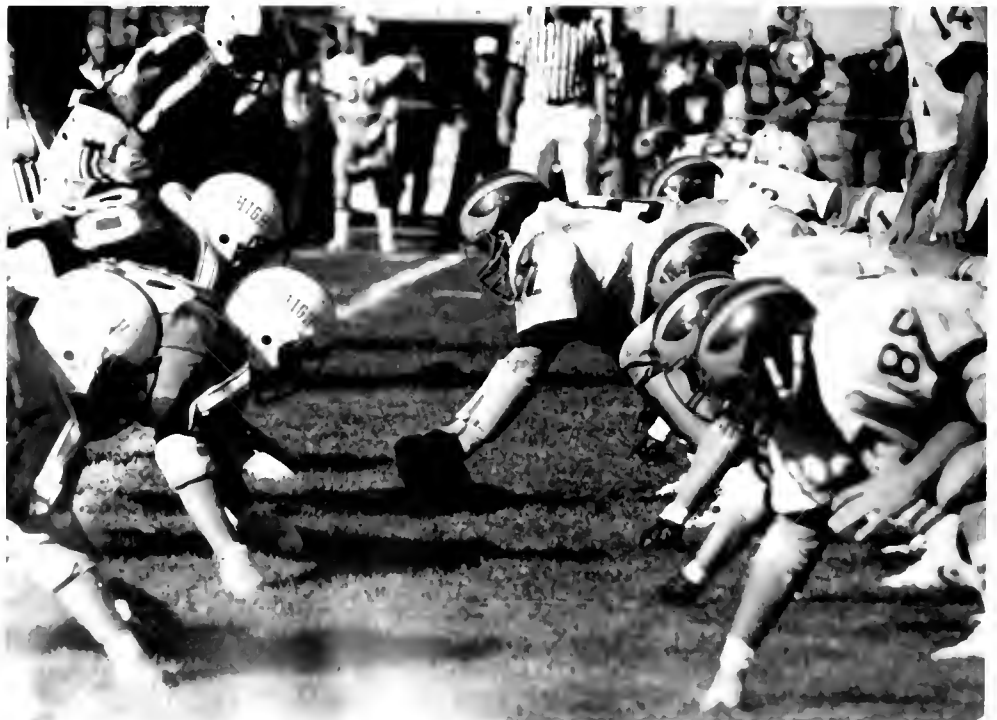

It was after this stunning defeat that the 0-4 Engineers exhibited their fierce pride and determination as they traveled north to face perennial Yankee Conference contender, Connecticut, and came away winners the first time, 16-13.

Marty Horn was the Engineers "man of the hour" once more as he hit Dominic LaSelva with a 34 yard touchdown pass with 1:16 remaining on the clock to give the squad their first lead of the game, 16-13. That's how it ended as the Engineers defense, led by linebackers Doug Pearson and John Shigo made the slim lead stand up.

The following week, Ed Godbolt was the story of the afternoon as he rushed for 170 yards on 37 carries to lead Lehigh to a 20-17 victory over the Wildcats of New Hampshire. Godbolt added 47 more yards on five pass receptions. Marty Horn was also impressive as he went 19 for 31 for 196 yards and two TDs.

After an open date that the Engineers effectively used to prepare for Bucknell, they stomped the Bisons, 21-10 to improve their record to 3-4. Ed Godbolt again was the main man for the Engineers as he darted through the Bison defense for 113 yards on 31 carries. The passing combination of quarterback Marty Horn (15 of 33 for 240 yards), and split end Jim Davidson, four catches for 136 yards (including catches of 53 and 65 yards, the latter for a score) was especially effective.

Kingston, Rhode Island was the sight of the Engineer's next contest as the squad traveled to the 'Ocean State' to face the Yankee conference's leading team, the Rams of the University of Rhode Island. The squad competed well against the favored Rams and held a slim 16-13 lead late in the game. The Engineer's dreams of four straight victories and a .500 record were ruined when Ram QB Dave Grimsich found split end

Tom Mut alone in the Lehigh end zone on fourth and 12 to give Rhode Island the win 20-16.

The team showed its great character by coming back the next weekend and blowing out highly regarded East Stroudsburg State, 25-7.

The win over ESSC raised the team's record to 4-5, giving them a chance to keep the ten year non-losing season streak alive, and more importantly, gave the Engineers a much needed boost going into the traditional season finale with hated Lafayette.

Unfortunately for Lehigh, the squad was unable to carry their winning ways into Fisher Field in Easton as the host 'Pards rolled to a slightly misleading 34-6 win. The Engineer offense finished with 330 total yards, which was just 21 yards less than Lafayette's total. Lehigh running back Ed Godbolt gave Lehigh fans something to cheer about as he led both teams with 187 yards on 37 carries. The engineer defense effectively contained star halfback Nick Kowgios and held him to just 51 yards on 17 carries, his worst performance of the season.

The ending was a sad one for the Engineer seniors. Offensive seniors John Ahsler, Scott Fath, Ron Garis, Ed Godbolt, Kevin Greene, Steve Joseph, Bill Rambo, and Gregg Van Orden all watched painfully as their Lehigh careers ended in a disappointing fashion.

All four defensive seniors, Ken Allwood, Jack Meyers, Joe Yesulaitus, and Frank Rudisill finished their collegiate careers on the playing field and left their final contest bitterly disappointed.

While it is true that these 13 seniors left their final game in defeat, they amassed an impressive 30-13-2 record during their four years including a trip to the NCAA Division I-AA Championship game in Orlando, Fla. in 1979, a Lambert Cup Championship and an appearance on ABC-TV in 1980, not to mention an 8-3 mark during a fine 1981 season.

With a relatively young squad and a strong Division I schedule, the 1982 team once again qualified for postseason tournament competition in the newly formed East Coast Conference. The elimination of tie games this year brought about many double overtime contests, occasional penalty flick situations, and a misleading .500 record. One of the '82 season highlights was a double overtime victory over nationally ranked Ursinus College.

The Lehigh varsity ice hockey team had a tough 5-13 season, but with a new coach and some promising underclassmen, the future looks good. The team was led by captains Bo Dane and Scott Allinson, who both had 35 points. A few close games in the early going kept the icers from attaining a winning season.

WOMEN'S SWIMMING

The 1983 women's swimming team, in their second year of up-grading their schedule, had a successful season, compiling a 7-4 record. Ten out of eighteen new records were set during the year. Since there were no seniors on the team, Coach Gardiner will have the entire squad back to work with next year.

WOMEN'S LACROSSE

The 1983 women's lacrosse team ended their schedule with a record of 9-5-1. The team, one of the strongest in a number of years, placed second in the East Coast Conference with five members of the squad (Brenda Sirois, Sue Shoop, Karyn Yost, Sue Coursen, and Missy Miller) being chosen for the all ECC team. Because of a couple of regular season games that should have been won and a heart breaking double overtime loss to Delaware in the ECC finals, the team was not chosen for competition in the national tournament. Next year's squad should be just as strong and hopes to avenge itself in playoff competition.

The relatively inexperienced men's varsity tennis team, under the direction of first-year head coach Kevin Kopp, finished the 1983 season with an outstanding 12-6 record. Galcher captured the East Coast Conference title at the number three singles, while Shramko settled for the runnerup spot at second singles. The two also paired together to capture a finals birth in the ECC at number two doubles. The outstanding play of both Shramko and Galcher earned them the co-MVP award for the 1983 season.

BETHLEHEM

Many of us had never even heard of Bethlehem, PA. The only Bethlehem we knew was preceded by the line "Oh, little town of ... " All we really knew about Bethlehem was that it was where we were going to live for the next four years of our lives.

From the moment we drove over the Hill to Hill Bridge and took a look at Fourth Street, we swore we'd never last. Little did we realize the history hidden within this town, and never did we think that within a month we'd be calling this town home.

Few actually realize the fine qualities of Bethlehem. Founded in the early 1700's by Moravian settlers, the town was named Bethlehem by Count Nicholas Zinzendorf, due to his arrival in the area on Christmas eve.

Bethlehem soon developed into a manufacturing town. Later, it developed into what proved to be an industrial center, housing the Bethlehem Water Works — the first public utility in America.

During Washington's presence in Valley Forge, Bethlehem served as a hospital town for war casualties and refugees. The town was visited by illustrious people including Washington himself, as well as the Marquis de Lafayette, Benjamin Franklin and John Adams.

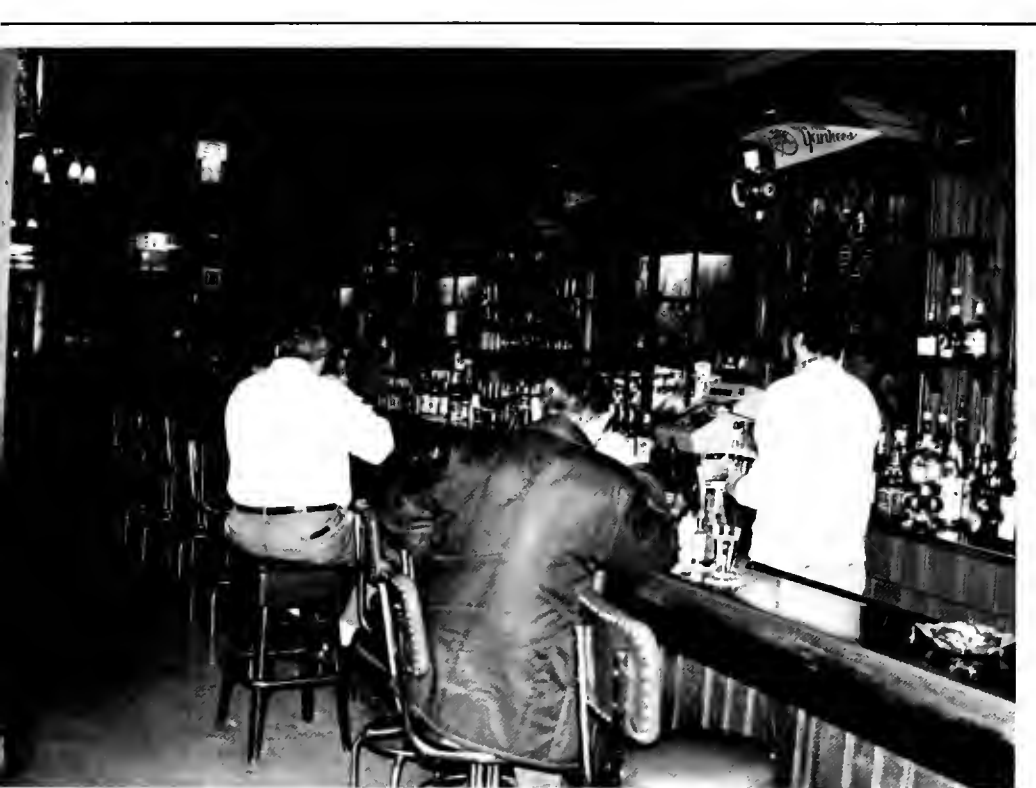

All this history and more is enveloped in the past of this small town. There is so much more to Bethlehem than the steel mill, the University, Bloomers, Lehigh Pizza and Uncle Manny's.

Many feel that the students at Lehigh very rarely appreciate Bethlehem for what it is. We tend to ignore its past, and in some ways its present. In many cases, such an opinion may be right. But as students at the University we have come to appreciate Bethlehem for special reasons of our own. For four very memorable years of our lives. For the four years we called this town home.

LEHIGH WRESTLING

by Jeff Aronson

The Engineer grapplers struck gold — or, rather, oil — at the NCAA Wrestling Championships in Oklahoma City, OK.

Led by national champion Darryl Burley at 142, the Engineers placed fifth behind national powers Iowa, Oklahoma State, and Oklahoma. Pete Schuyler placed third at 134, and Rich Santoro placed seventh at 126 to earn themselves All-American status.

Burley's title was his second — the first was back in 1979 — and it was a loud message to the Midwest partisans that Eastern wrestlers cannot be taken lightly. The crowd of 14,000 gasped as Burley brutalized big Eight-Champion Al Freeman in the finals.

Bernie Brown earned a trip to nationals in his first varsity season, and despite finishing without a victory, gave Engineer fans a look into the bright future of Lehigh wrestling.

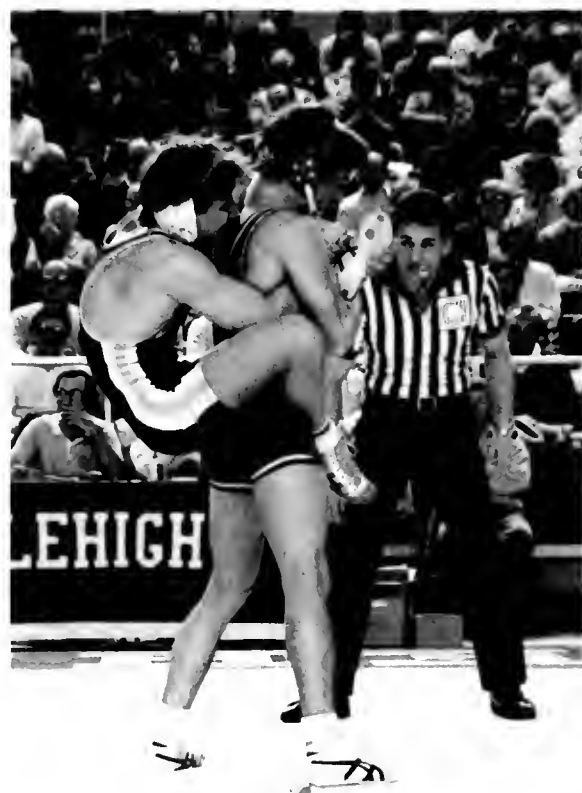

The teams' winning record was its 30th in the past 31 years, and was capped off by an EIWA championship over arch-rivals Navy and Syracuse.

Burley finished the season with a 26-0 record, bringing his spectacular career to a close. His lifetime mark of 94-5-1 left him one short of the Lehigh record for victory (behind Mike Brown). He also became the fourth man in NCAA history to become a four-time EIWA champion.

Schuyler's mark of 23-2-1 left him with a career total of 59-11-3, including two EIWA titles. Weaver won his second EIWA crown, while Santoro and Brown won their first. He took an 8-0 lead early in the match, before winning by injury default at 2:23. "I couldn't believe how pumped up I was," said Burley after the match. "From the opening minute, I wanted to pressure him and beat him."

The same intensity typified the performances of the other Engineers, who peaked at the right time after recording an 8-5 season record. Schuyler burst into national prominence by defeating number-one seed Kris Whelan of Missouri 4-3 to place third. And Santoro, who was only seeded tenth, earned seventh by beating 1982 runner-up Scott Barrett of Boise State, 5-2.

All-Americans Jim Reilly at 167 and Bobby Weaver at 118 were upset early in the tournament, but the Lehigh faithful at the Myriad Convention Center received consolation by following the trek of unheralded Jeff Turner. The son of the team's coach Thad Turner entered the tourney as one of only four wrestlers with losing records, but won three straight bouts to place 12th.

... "Think that you can and you will. It's all in a state of mind ..."

Never willing to merely wait for circles under the eyes to appear by themselves, another Brown and White staff worked for another year, trying to speed up the process.

Two semesters' editorial staffs, allegedly led by Editors Sanford Block and Tim DiPiazza, put in the usual inhuman hours, seeking no thanks, no rewards and no compensation other than a chance for a normal night's sleep, which never came. Covering the activities of the new University president, the controversy of a highly debated tenure-denial decision and proposals for coed-by-room housing, relaxed social regulations and the sororities' move from SMAGS to main campus, the paper had enough news to keep an energetic group of editors and writers busy.

The year saw Block's attempt at a monthly two-color supplement, only one issue of which appeared in eight months. DiPizzazza made a now-immortal pep talk to his mostly talented staff, but in the end it was his ass. Block and DiPizzizzi spent lots of time working on the paper, but it managed to come out twice each week anyway.

Spurred by another favorable critique by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association — a First Place ranking for 1981-82 — and the quiet proddings of mantor/printer Bernie Fetsko and his loyal sidekick, known only as "The Rev", the staffs continued the B&W's traditional struggles against igno-Steve Rubenstein, Harry Freitag rance and libel. Combining the talents of the likes of MF Donkey, Ricky Baff, Andy "Catch You Later, Probably a Half-Hour" Lehren, Dynamo Cagan and Brett "From Desk to the Top" Lowy, the editorial boards from both semesters kept things going.

As usual, the staff consisted of a healthy mix of J majors and other arties, business majors and engineers. The non-J majors tried to weasel their way out of some work with cries like, "I don't have all these hours to spend; I'm a business major," but they didn't have interps and prosems to deal with. And, speaking of interps and prosems, the guidance and sympathy of Professors Robert Sullivan and Walter Trimble, who shared the dubious honors of B&W adviser were always welcome. In addition, thanks go out to Dick "Another Fine Metz" for truly earning the title of this year's Clown of the Year and baring more than his soul in April's C&G.

As Block and DiPazzizza (both still unemployed as graduation approaches) and the other seniors departed for the Real World and it's bigger and better press nights, the paper remains in the hands of Lowy, where, with the help of yet another team of insomniacs, it will undoubtedly continue a long and admirable tradition.

The Year in Review

by Sanford Block

Despite South Mountain's insulation from the world outside, 1982 and 1983 were two years of noteworthy events around the globe. Some of the news was good, some of the news was bad, and even though much of it had little effect on the lives we led at Lehigh, it all shaped the world we were planning to enter.

Although bad news from the Mideast was in itself nothing new, the events there during this time were especially violent. Palestinians were massacred by Lebanese forces, and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin led an evasion on Lebanon.

Britain battled Argentina for sovereignty of the Falkland Islands, and a stranger found himself bumming a cigarette from the Queen — in her bedroom! Prince Charles and Princess Diana brought William Arthur Philip Louis into the world, a world that included Irish terrorism in London.

Besides the ten soldiers killed during these bombings, the past year saw the deaths of Leonid Brezhnev, John Belushi, Ingrid Bergman, John Cheever, Henry Fonda, Grace Kelly, Lee Strassburg and Bess Truman. In addition, Barney Clark, recipient of the world's first artificial heart, died after living with the synthetic organ for several months.

Another historical departure was the finale of M*A*S*H* in March. A series that outlived the war it was based upon more than two times over, M*A*S*H* had entertained us through high school and was a popular excuse not to study during college.

In the nation, we watched Secretary of State Alexander Haig with a critical eye, and his resignation during the summer did not seem to disappoint too many Americans. Equally unpopular, Secretary of the Interior James Watt supervised the environment, but we were never quite sure which side he was on. Treasury Secretary Donald Regan managed to stay out of the limelight, but the economy was probably the most notorious aspect of our country in 1982.

and continued to be in 1983. Unemployment dipped to new depths since the Great Depression. Out of work and out of patience, many Americans were experiencing their own Depression, and they didn't see anything great about

The country erected a monument honoring nearly 58,000 Americans left dead or missing after the Vietnam War, reawakening the significance of those events. At the same time, international tensions spurred widespread opposition to the nuclear arms buildup that many feared would spare no one to build a monument to the casualties of the next war.

The San Francisco 46ers won the Super Bowl, and Larry Holmes took 13 pounds to defeat Gerry Cooney for the Heavyweight Championship. Nonetheless, Gerry and his mother found themselves respected enough to sell electric razors in a Norelco advertising blitz.

In the arts, we met Steven Spielberg's extra-terrestrial. E.T. filled the theatres and the toystore shelves, but the Oscar went home with an equally bony Mahatma Gandhi. And the quintessential American art form, the Broadway musical, was taught a thing or two by the phenomenon of the British import, Cats.

Cyanide-laced Tylenol hit the drugstore shelves resulting in a new government standard for the packaging of over-the-counter drugs. As far as under-the-counter drugs went, John DeLorean had the market cornered. His coke got him in trouble, but the rest of us were introduced to Diet Coke, along with inventions such as PepsiFree, sugar Free PepsiFree, RC 100 and other caffeine-free sodas. 7-Up, of course, never had it and never will, but decaffeinated soft drinks became as popular as light beers, in the outside world, if not in our own microcosmic Lehigh.

"It seemed to me in more ways than one,
the show was over."

James Herriot

DELTA GAMMA MOVES IN

Wanted: Large house or apartment building capable of housing 30 to 40 women. Must be in a safe neighborhood and within easy walking distance to campus.

At first, the search for a home for Delta Gamma sounded like a case from "Mission Impossible." Finding a suitable place in South Bethlehem, at times seemed as likely as finding the proverbial needle in a haystack.

But eventually, persistence paid off and in the Spring of 1981, DG had a new home at 715 E. Seventh St. The house — a series of 12 apartments — was capable of housing 35 women. The remaining sisters opted for the off-campus life.

To the sisters of Delta Gamma, the house was much more than simply a roof over their heads. To some, it stood as a mark of achievement. "To me, it shows how far we've come. Being colonized, getting a great pledge class, getting our own house . . . not bad for one year!" exclaimed one sister.

Another commented that she believed the house had helped to unify the sorority. "Having the house made such a difference in our relationships with one another — living together, we became so much closer," she said.

When the sorority was established at Lehigh in 1981, "What is DG?" was one of the most frequently asked questions on campus. By 1982, the question became "Where is DG?" To rectify the situation, the sisters began a party campaign to put DG on the Lehigh map. They were aided in their efforts by the many fraternities who made "roadtrips" to Delta Gamma.

Nowadays, with "sorority housing" such a big issue on campus, Delta Gamma's long-term future at 715 E. Seventh St. remains a question mark. "But," says one Delta Gamma, "wherever we end up, this place will always have sentimental value. After all, it was DG's first home.

Same answer, sir. In my professional opinion, Lisa wasn't worth it. Cindy, get the hell out of the shower. Gordy gets it and Noble doesn't. Alice and Trixie really do go to school. Ben, habla Espagnole? Boned. Blakey's off the list, but 15 will get you 20! Willie's coming, tap another keg. Gratti abuses small furry animals. S.C. — This whole trip has been an exercise in frustration . . . Think about it! Coop — Chuck Norris not, Freitas maybe. Shawn sleeps in drawers. Tuesday night at Bloomer's with Phi Slamma Drinka. McCabe the dickfator. N.Y.C. — Mismo and Antoinette. Has anyone seen Chuckles? Tailgates on R.P.'s car. The E.C. lead by the Hitler Youths. Seniors, Juniors, and Freitas. Larry. Head engineers. P<sup>3</sup>. Pedro! No Parties? . . . Right. Johnson tasted good. JJ — quit shpanking. What's the name of that spineless house across the street? Hey Lace, quit being funny. Jacques — get a mini-bike. Zeke, you're not a stud. Mismo, can you see? Hey spider, fegs and Gwen? Werner gets a tube, Schummer gets a turkey, and Ham gets a buckwheat. My mouth feels like the bottom of a birdcage. Random Ruser. Roberts is AWESOME. Swanny quit studying. To the man with the tan. Phil — shut up and secure the house. P. Cooper's in love. Conan McVain. Kappa Sig drunks beat Lehigh field hockey team, 7-4. Triple Secret pro. Get your hands off my ears, I know my job! Kuloser — the tampax kid. Joel. Ray, we need you. Where's Gy? Emas, the copkiller. Noble, Ham & Lehigh forever. Elf and Santa chow at Christmas. What's for lunch, Schummer? The Wanderers 10/31/82. Tex drives a wide load. Bahama Mama Always. Pete Prennan — Alpha Phi's spy. Bruce, leave that old man alone. What's the pledge count today? Take creature to the hospital, M.L. Todd, can I borrow a quarter? Who's going to court today? Kolligs — clean your car! Tee-rashed. Good Luck/Bellevue, Coop, Gordy, Ham, Lace, Larry, R.P. and Schummer — finally!

Graduation 1983

By Ann Lewnes

Sunday June 5, 1983. Graduation Day. A day of countless congratulations, relieved students, proud parents and farewell tears. The day marking the culmination of four years of hard work. The end, and yet, the beginning.

The commencement exercises were held in Stabler Arena on a rare sunny Sunday in an otherwise rainy spring. Degrees were given to Bachelors, Masters and Doctoral students.

Lee A. Iacocca, chairman of the Chrysler Corp., delivered the Commencement Address and urged students to avoid being discouraged by the current economic situation. Iacocca emphasized that the key to success is diligence and perseverance.

With that sound advice under our belts, we apprehensively filed out of Stabler. Lehigh unleashed us that day from it's sheltered boundries into the real world; a world we worked four years to prepare ourselves for and a world we were always led to believe we would take by storm. Of course the true test will come in time. If the road to fulfillment is a little longer than we anticipated and we are still able to think positively about our alma mater, then we will know, as we do now, that our time at Lehigh was well worth it.

Thanks to the following people for providing the copy in this book: Rhonda Stone, Rhonda Stoner, Jeff Aronson, Frank Rudisill, Val Votto, Howard Goldstein, Sandy Block, Maryellen Connor, Maria Mastras and Ann Lewnes. Also, to Betsy Bar-mat and Mary Trost for the art work!

The 1983 Epitome, printed by offset lithography was published by Hunter Publishing Co., Winston-Salem, North Carolina. The paper used is primarily #80 Enamel Coated; #80 Gloss paper is used in the signatures that contain color photographs. Body copy is set in 10-point Avant Book, whereas identifications are set in 8-point Helvetica italics. The predominant headline style is 36 point Avant Bold.

Many of the photographs in this book are the work of University students. The senior portraits and most of the group pictures were taken by Merin Studios, Philadelphia. Athletic team photos were done by Ryan Studios, Bethlehem.

Acknowledgments

I never quite figured out how I got rooked into working on the 1981 Epitome, nor why I stayed to work on the 1982 book. This year I found my head shaking back and forth, questioning my own sanity, as I consented to pose as the Editor-in-Chief of the 1983 Epitome. Well, I never held a lot of stock in my own intelligence.

As I look back, though, I'm grateful to those who kept me involved year after year. I have them to thank for friendships made in a dingy U.C. basement office that left us with a look that says, "We did it"; for making us all a bit more reliable and a bit more responsible in the face of utter chaos and, most of all, I want to thank them for giving me the opportunity to present to the Class of 1983, my senior class, a gift — The 1983 Epitome.

There are so many people that deserve so much credit and so much thanks for without each of their contributions, the book would not exist. Although Prof. Sharon Friedman was on sabbatical for much of this year, we thank her for being our yearbook advisor and caring enough to voice her opinion. And much thanks to Prof. Robert Sullivan, who stood in her absence. Also, thanks goes to Prof. Wally Trimble, who came to my rescue with developing paper, as well as, handled the photography equipment (and the wrath of Michele!) with ease. A special thanks to Ruth Mathis, who dealt with irate parents, a lunatic yearbook staff, and even the threat of law suits, with undying patience. Thanks, Ruth, for the extra typing and for listening to my complaints. Teresa, thank-you for keeping the office clean and wearing a smile.

Without Steve and Donna, and the rest of the Merin crew, we would never have made it. Through snow storms and pouring rain, they were always there with a good idea and a lot of moral support. Thank-you both.

MJ, it's finally over. No more contract meetings, balancing unbalanced books, or cursing everything that moves on the face of the earth. Thanks for the hours of commiserating and scheming it took to make this book. You always were the brains behind this operation. Maria, after three years of this; I'm glad it's over. Thank-you for your creativity and talent, for the endless hours, the endless lay-outs and the endless energy you gave to me and to our book. I would have lost my mind long ago without you. I think this year's photography was better than any I can recall. Steve, Michele, and Marcy, you all did a fantastic job. I honestly do not know what I would have done without each of you. I know the section editors made a mad scramble to finish at the end, but be proud of your work next October. Thank-you Lynn, Maureen, Mike, Sue, Alison, Mark and Ann, our faithful copy editor. Congrats, Tex, you probably know every Lehigh student and faculty member personally by now. See, there is a sunny side to every job! Although, Nigel, I haven't found what it is for your job. You both worked hard at jobs that were not very glamorous and did a great job. Thank-you for your help and patience. Ben, we wanted to include a centerfold, and you were our top model, but our budget just wouldn't allow it. Thanks for your help and the spaghetti. Finally, my thanks to the girls of 318 West Packer Avenue, my friends, family and fiancé for their interest, patience and encouragement.

I hope I remembered everyone. If I didn't; I meant to. I leave to you all the product of our sweat, rage, laughter and perseverance. I hope there's a picture for every memory you carry, or a memory for every picture. I hope the bindings become broken from countless glances, and the pages become torn and dirtied from overuse. My job is finished, your job is to enjoy the epitome of our efforts.

Allysa L. Scott
Editor-in-Chief

"... If our friendship depends on things like space and time, then when we finally overcome space and time, we've destroyed our own brotherhood. But overcome space, and all we have left is Here. Overcome time, and all we have left is Now. And in the middle of Here and Now, don't you think we might see each other once or twice?"
